CareyGlass Solar has recently completed another successful project survey and system installation, on this occasion at the beautiful Claregalway Hotel just outside Galway City. The state-of-the-art solar thermal system installed could cut 25% off the hotel's domestic hot water bills.

As a specialist in solar thermal and grid connected photovoltaic (PV) systems, CareyGlass Solar is Ireland's leading provider of innovative energy solutions. Many thousands of Irish homeowners and businesses have contacted CareyGlass Solar

“ We carried out a survey on the Claregalway Hotel several months ago, and with these calculations we were able to offer a system that could shave a quarter off the hotel's DHW expenses. ” in recent times to enquire about our innovative energy solutions; those who have acquired a CareyGlass Solar system have made substantial savings in their energy costs and have also secured the peace of mind that comes with 'going green'.

One such wise investment is the recently finished work at the Claregalway Hotel in Co. Galway.

'We carried out a survey on the Claregalway Hotel several months ago,' Evelyn Carey of CareyGlass Solar explains, 'and with these calculations we were able to offer a system that could shave a quarter off the hotel's DHW expenses. CareyGlass Solar has installed 12 high-spec C.P.P. panels in the hotel. The system is saving approximately 2000kw per week, which represents about 300 litres of gas that would otherwise have to be bought. The 12-panel C.P.C. system is mounted on a flat roof at the rear of the hotel facing south; 2 highly insulated pipes run to the boiler house and into a buffer storage tank, where the domestic hot water is pre-heated. An advanced pumping station controls the flow of the system best suited for hotel use, and all data is sent to the hotel manager via data cable.'

In business for five years, the award-winning Claregalway Hotel is recognised as being the perfect base from which to travel around the west of Ireland. Paul Gill, Managing Director of the Claregalway Hotel, believes it is different from other hotels. 'We have a gifted and dynamic team of staff that is committed to delivering the best experience to the customer. Our CareyGlass Solar investment will make us a more efficient and cost-effective business. It will also demonstrate how a hotel can provide a top-quality service while also working towards safeguarding the environment.'

“ Our CareyGlass Solar investment will make us a more efficient and cost-effective business. ”
